Mokena Grade School Pupils To Present Christmas Operetta

The Mokena grade school annual Christmas program will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 19, in the school gym.

Pupils will present the operetta, "The Christmas Wish".

The story takes place in the toy department of Tracy's department store a few days before Christmas. Two children, Joan and Peter, have hidden in the store at closing time so that Peter can meet his Fairy Godfather who had promised him a Christmas wish for being a good boy. While in hiding, the children are surprised to see the many toys come to life.

Joan is played by Irene Geuther, and Peter by Dennis Capel. Others in the cast are: Alan Wallenstein as O'Shaughnessy; John Seavertson as Devlin, the sales manager; Carol Benson as Mary Bush, sales clerk; Gregory Fant as Herkimer Hoskins, the stock room boy; Bill Pommering as the Bear; Sarah Sippel and Jack Chisholm as Raggedy Ann and Andy; Candy Smith as the ballerina doll; Dean Rodeghero as the dog; Joyce Harling as the baby doll; Kathy Hunningford as the old doll; Terry Warning and Larry Kelch as the clowns; and Peter Demus as the rabbit.

Sales clerks and shoppers will be members of the school choir. The operetta is under the direction of Glenn Miers with Wayne Swanburg as accompanist.

Suffers Asthma Attack

Mrs. Albert Helmuth is recovering from a n attack of asthma which sent the Mokena inhalator squad to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Heim, at 3 a.m. yesterday. The doctor, who arrived at the time of the inhalator, was able to subside the attack and make breathing easier by medication.

The USS Princeton, the first Navy warship to have propelling machinery below the waterline out of reach of enemy shot, was launched at Philadelphia Dec. 10, 1842.

Methodists At Mokena Observe 90th Anniversary

The Mokena Methodist church will observe its 90th birthday Sunday, Dec. 15 and in celebration of the fact Dr. R. Merrill Powers, district superintendent of the Joliet-Dixon district of the Methodist Rock River conference, will be the guest preacher.

Dr. Powers, who is serving his fourth year as district superintendent, is to give a message at the regular 10:45 o'clock service.

The Methodist church at Mokena was dedicated on Dec. 15, 1867, according to the data on the historic Marble Topped Table. As a matter of fact the table top is the only source of knowledge left concerning the beginning of the church at Mokena. If there were records inscribed on paper they have been lost or mislaid. None has ever come to light.

But for the table one would be left to guess as to when the Methodist church came to Mokena and if the table hadn't tipped probably its secret would still be concealed.

The late William Semmler founder of The Semmler Press, discovered the table's secret. When he was 16 years old—that would have been in 1903—he used to help out in cleaning the church every week. One day while in pursuit of such duties he was moving a table. It was a marble topped affair and when it chanced to stick for a moment the weight of the top caused it to tip.

More Gas for Space Heating, Company Reports

Northern Illinois Gas Co. has reported to the Illinois Commerce Commission that letters are being mailed this week to approximately 22,700 customers authorizing them to use natural gas for residential space heating.

The current release covers all customers who had applied for this service on or before Feb. 21, 1955 for existing homes (homes occupied when applications were made), and on or before April 17, 1955 for individual new homes (homes not occupied on date when applications were made).

In accordance with the gas restriction order under which the company is operating, gas heat authorizations are issued only for single family dwellings. Permits must be acted on within 12 months.

240,000 Homes Heated

According to Marvin Chandler, Northern Illinois Gas president, the current space heat release results from the utility's continuing study of its natural gas supply and requirements. The study now indicates that a sufficient amount of gas will be available on the coldest day to serve the new gas heat customers as well as the more than 240,000 who now heat their homes with gas in the utility's 20-county service area.

He said this action is indicative of the company's unceasing efforts to make gas heat available as soon as possible to customers on its waiting list. Following this release about 110,000 still remain on the list.

Next Year May Do It

Chandler is hopeful that the plans of Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America to increase the daily supply to this area will soon get Federal Power Commission approval and clearance of other legal obstacles. If these are obtained promptly, Northern Illinois Gas can look forward to receiving a 45 per cent additional daily pipeline supply some time during the 1958-59 heating season. At that time, most of those now remaining on the company's waiting list will receive gas heat authorizations.

Chandler added that the limitation order for residential customers applies only to space heating, and that sufficient natural gas is available for the other major household uses including cooking, water heating, refrigeration, clothes drying, incineration and summer air conditioning.

Residents in the area of New Lenox will have an opportunity to enjoy recreational activities, including swimming, fishing, picnicking, and other activities.

The New Lenox Sportsmen club is presently negotiating the purchase of property to be developed into a recreation area.

An option has been taken on an 80 acre tract of land containing four bodies of water, the largest of which is approximately one half mile in length. All bodies of water are reported to contain fish of good size, spokesmen say. Applications for membership in this recreation area, to be known as the New Lenox Sportsmen's club, may be requested by addressing the club at P.O. Box 395. They are also available from any of the membership committee consisting of P. C. Luce, Wade Krohn, Clarence Luther, and John Bell, or thru any of the club officers.

Membership in this recreation club will be limited in number and is dependent upon being a member of the New Lenox Sportsmen club.

The area is sadly lacking in recreational facilities and membership in the club should prove a boon to many area residents, it was pointed out.

Christmas Seal Sales Lagging

The tuberculosis Christmas Seal was 51 years old Sunday, Dec. 8. The success story of this brightly colored bit of paper representing the fight against tuberculosis, the number one infectious killer disease reads almost like a fairy tale. From a modest beginning in Wilmington, Del. in December of 1907, where the first Christmas Seal sale aiming for $300, brought in $3,000 to keep a small open air sanatorium from closing, to the present day where Christmas Seal sale goals, all over the nation, are set in the thousands and millions of dollars, the success of these campaigns is almost unrivaled.

The total returns in Will county Christmas Seal campaign of the week were $17,168.80. Although this is a commendable amount, it is nearly $1,200 behind last year according to Gordon K. Kent, general Christmas Seal chairman in Will county. In view of this lag in returns, Kent reported that the first reminder has been mailed. He further emphasized that care had been exercised to exclude those people who have contributed from the reminder list, but it is possible that some contributions and reminders will cross in the mail.

It is hoped by those in charge that this reminder will serve to increase the daily returns so that Will county can catch up with last year, and go on to reach the budgetary requirement of $42,000 which has been set by the board.

Contributions to date from Frankfort township are $486; from New Lenox, $451; from Green Garden, $65.80; from Manhattan, $173; from Homer, $193; from Lockport $1,767.50; from Peotone, $352 and from Joliet, $10,573.30.

IN SIMPLE HONESTY

The federal excise taxes, used to be confined to a small list of luxury items—liquors, furs, tobacco products, etc. Then, as a World War II emergency measure, these taxes were extended to certain purely necessary and essential services, such as transportation and the telephone.

A Gallup Poll has found that the tax on telephone communications is the most unpopular of all excise taxes, for the simple reason that it adds to the cost of a genuine necessity. Moreover, state regulatory authorities condemn this tax as being "inimicable to the maintenance of reasonably priced and non-discriminatory communications service", because it adds unreasonably to the rates and charges which they have carefully established. On top of that, it is undoubtedly a discriminatory tax, since it singles out the telephone from the other essential household services.

Emergency taxes, in simple honesty, should be discontinued when the emergency which brought them into being passes. World War II ended some 12 years ago, but the telephone tax and the other excise taxes imposed then are still on the books. And the tax, it should be understood, is a consumer tax. Its repeal would result in a direct saving for the telephone user. No part of the tax saving could be retained by the telephone companies.

STICKS TO HIS GUNS

No top government official has come in for more criticism than Secretary of Agriculture Benson—and, on occasion, criticisms have been carried to the point of downright abuse. But the Secretary has stuck to his guns.

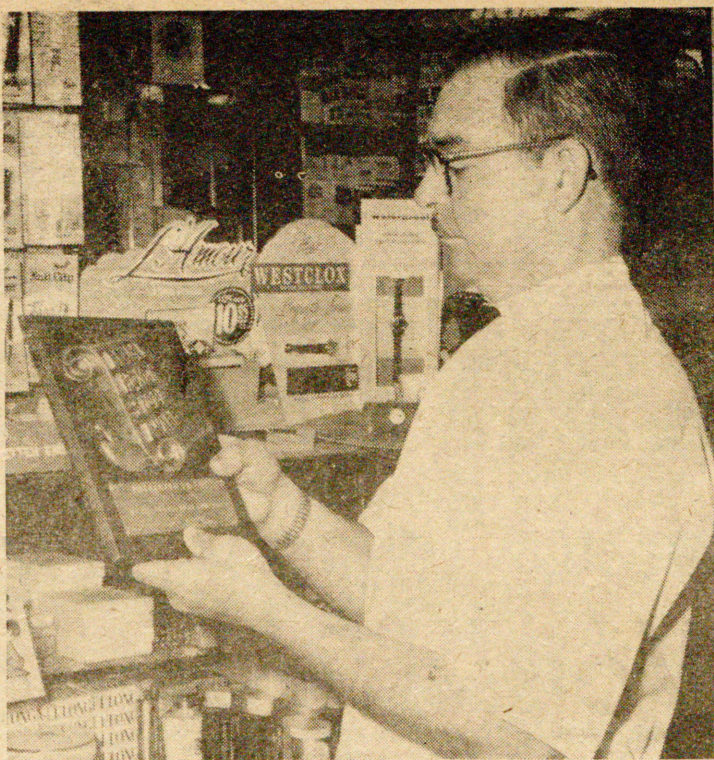

In a recent talk before farm magazine editors, Mr. Benson said something he has said, in essence, many times before—"... we cannot whip the farm problem by controlling production. ... He added that controls do not reduce production, but do impose severe restrictions upon farmers; that farm products will continue abundant and cannot be priced as if they were now scarce; and that legal formulas now governing allotments and controls are obsolete.

Every new law affecting agriculture just seems to make the surplus problem worse, and more expensive to the taxpayers at large. In many instances, the price supports and subsidies have proven profitable primarily to the huge corporation-type farm—not to the family farms which are the keystone of U. S. agriculture.

On top of that, there are big areas of agriculture which do not have the supports and controls, which operate in the honored traditions of free enterprise—and which have been notably successful. Livestock is a prime example here. Meat animals move in the free market, and supply and demand determines from time to time—but they do the price. Prices rise and fall that for sound and natural reasons, not because some fallible human mind decides what they should be on this day or that. And, over the years, the prices average out at levels which are fair to producer and consumer alike.

Hurricanes contain many times the energy of a tornado, according to aerologists with the Navy Hurricane Hunters. In fact, hurricanes have been known to contain tornadoes and water spouts in the outer edges of their structure.

On Dec. 23, 1941, fighter aircraft were put into use as bombers for the first time, and Marine aviators sunk their first enemy warship in World War II, off Wake Island.

GETS COVETED AWARD—Noel Elliott, proprietor of the Rexall pharmacy at New Lenox is shown here looking with some pride on the Honor Store Award presented to him by the Rexall company. He is entitled to exhibit pride in this award as only about 10 per cent or less of the some 5,000 Rexall stores in the nation receive it. On the plate is the inscription, "Dedicated to the Health and Wealth of This Community." The award is given to those stores that best meet the ideals set up for a drug store by the Rexall company. The recommendations of the company vary according to the type of community in which the store is located. (Robert Porter photo)

FIRST HOUSE GOING UP in Orland Hills development at Orland Park. The houses are designed and fabricated by National Homes and delivered to the site in large trucks, such as the one at the left of the picture. In the immediate foreground is the slab for another home. Twelve of these slabs had been completed by Monday, when this picture was taken, and erection of the homes will progress as rapidly as weather permits. Aldridge and Braun, contractors who are erecting the homes at the development, plan to put up approximately 600 houses. (Robert Porter photo).

Old Time Yule Customs Revived At Palos Center

The Community Center Foundation of Palos Park attempts to capture a bit of the old fashioned Christmas spirit through the revival of some of the old traditions and customs. The atmosphere of the main lodge, the craft shop, and the Wayside chapel help to make this possible.

Sunday, Dec. 15, the old custom of the hanging of the greens will take place at 7 pm. At that time evergreens will be hung from the rafters of the various rooms in the lodge. A large Christmas tree will be placed in the great hall of the lodge and decorated, as well as a smaller one in the living room. Afterwards Christmas carols will be sung.

Monday evening, Dec. 23, at 7:30 o'clock, the Yule log service will be celebrated. This starts with a trip thru the community on the hayrack, singing Christmas carols. Returning to the lodge by 8 pm., all will gather in the great hall for the Yule log service. The big Yule log will be brought in by the young people and put in the great fireplace. After the service there will be refreshments and carol singing. This is an old English custom which adds much to the spirit of Christmas.

These festive occasions are open to the community and all are invited to attend.

Members of the Square Dance group will hold their yearly smorgasbord Thursday, Dec. 26, at 7 pm. On Dec. 27, the summer campers and counsellors will have their annual Christmas party in the afternoon from 1:30 to 4:00.

Braves Down Blue Island 46-44

Take Highly Touted Cardinals In Last Two Minutes Of Play

The victory string of the Bremen Braves quintet stretched to five straight when they humbled the highly regarded Blue Island of the South Suburban High school conference to the tune of 46-44 last Saturday, at Blue Island.

At the end of the first quarter the score was knotted at 12 each and at the half Bremen held a commanding lead of 27-19.

In the early part of the third quarter, Blue Island's Featherstone Robinson, and Wood raised the team score 14 points to place them on top, 32-20.

Dale Hartwig scored two baskets and Jerry O'Neill a jump shot, to recapture the lead for Bremen at the end of the quarter, 37-34.

Featherstone opened the 4th quarter with two baskets and a free throw to give his mates a 39-37 edge.

In the last two minutes of play, O'Neill came thru with two baskets and a free throw to clinch the game for Bremen.

Blue Island's superior height was offset by Bremen's use of screens and blocks.

Hartwig with 16 points and Gary Dubois with 12, led Bremen's scoring, while Featherstone and Robinson collected 13 and 15 respectively.

In the curtain raiser, the Bremen frosh-soph dropped their first game of the season, 42-38.

Little Pat Ford Leads Eagles To Win Over Rich

The Carl Sandburg Eagles downed the Rich Rockets Friday night by a score of 73-70. The defeat was Rich's first conference loss on their own floor since the Southwest Suburban conference was formed four years ago, and was only the second loss in league play in 44 basketball games. Last year they were beaten by Lincoln-Way.

Rich led at the end of the first half by a 36-33 score, but a strong third quarter by Carl Sandburg, in which they outscored Rich by six points, built up a three point lead which held up to the end.

Little Pat Ford, Sandburg guard led all scores as he looped in a total of 31 points on 10 field goals and 11 free throws.

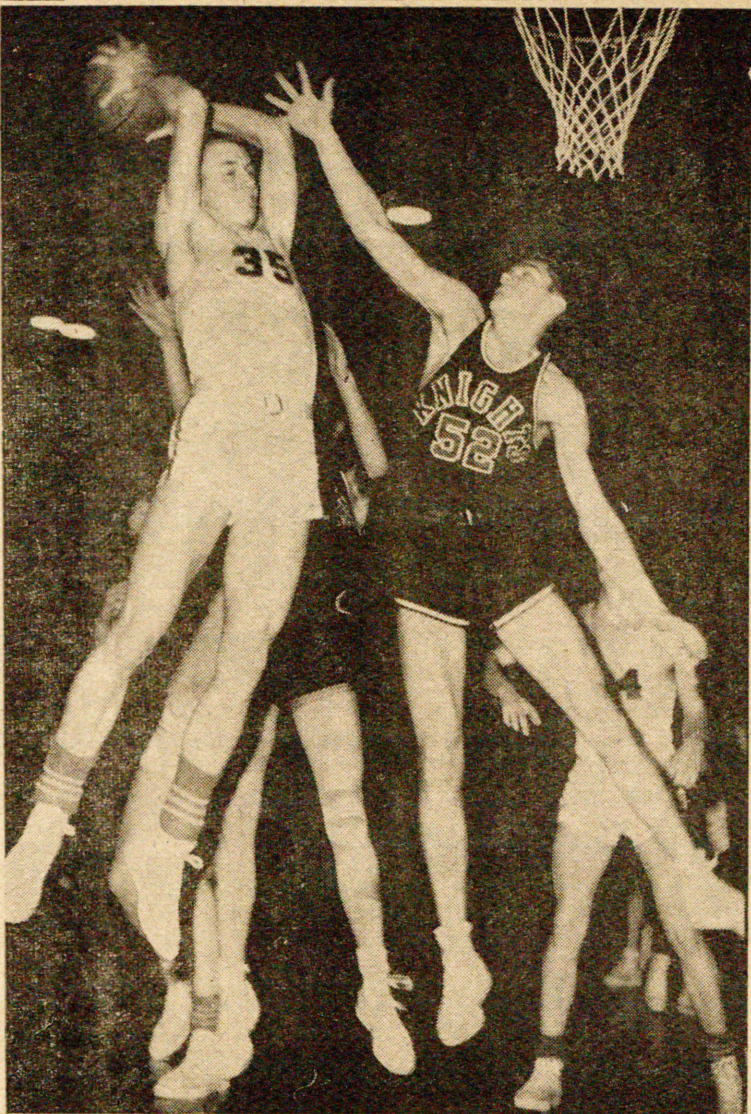

Mark Hill scored 16 points and captured a total of 12 rebounds to give valuable assistance.

Wagner of Rich scored a total of 22 points to lead Rich scorers.

Rich, a favorite for championship honors, lost this important conference game. Sandburg has lost only one conference game at the early part of the season, losing to Bremen, who as yet are undefeated.

In the game at Bremen last week-end against Lincoln-Way in the Southwest Suburban conference tilt the Lincoln-Way man with the ball is Ken Weber. Mokena Grade Cagers Drop Pair To Laraway But Vanquish Troy

The Mokena grade school heavyweight basketball team, known as the Meteors, suffered a stunning defeat at the hands of Laraway Dec. 3, as did the lightweights, the Meteorites. It was the first time since the 1953-54 season that both of the Mokena teams lost a double bill in conference competition.

Last Friday, Dec. 6, however, the Mokena fives came back to blast Troy in Desplaines Valley conference tilts.

In the Laraway games the Mokena heavies lost 41 to 32 while the ponies fell 18 to 16. In the Troy encounters the Meteors won 24 to 19; the Meteorites came thru 20 to 12.

The defeat by Laraway toppled the Meteors out of first place in the league standings for the first time since the '55-56 season. The Meteors have now won two games and lost one.

Superior speed and all around balance on the part of Laraway was too much of a combination for Mokena to overcome. Play was fairly even the first half with Laraway leading at intermission, 17 to 16. The third quarter was the deciding one. Laraway poured in 18 points while the best Mokena could tally was six. Mokena outscored Laraway in the last quarter 10 to 6 but it was too little and too late. Ron Yunker, with 23 points was top scorer in the heavyweight battle.

In the lightweight game Mokena led until the last two minutes. The Meteorites were in front 13 to 8 at halftime but couldn't buy a bucket in the second half. The only points Mokena could collect in the second half came on free throws and they won by three of those.

The win over Troy was the first scored by the Meteorites this year. Brown, Baker and Smith each scored six points for Mokena. The outfit led 10 to 4 at the half, saw the figures change to 10 to 8 in the third quarter and then was able to pull away.

In the heavyweight game it looked like the Meteors were in for their second defeat in as many starts. Troy led 11 to 4 at the half. Mokena was held scoreless in the second period but came back in the third to cut Troy's lead to one. Johnson scored two baskets, Muehler, one and Badten two free throws. Troy was held to two free throws in the third period.

Johnson banged three thru the hoop plus a free throw in the fourth quarter and Muehler and Yunker each connected from the floor. Troy was held to six points. Johnson was high scorer with 11 points.

Mokena's next games are at home tomorrow evening against Manhattan.

Nazarenes Stage Another Upset In Church Loop

Standings

Tinley Teen	1	4

The Nazarenes staged a second major upset in as many games in the Tinley Park church basketball league, Monday evening in the grade school gym, by upending the previously unbeaten Methodist team, 44-38.

St. George moved closer to first place by dropping a hard fighting Teen club, 43-36.

Last week the Nazarenes upset St. George, 30-29, and with the surprise win over the Methodist have sole possession of third place—Tinley Teen dropped to fourth by virtue of its loss to the Catholics.

70-foot Shot

The Methodists pulled away on brilliant shooting of its scoring combo, Tom Jeffers and Ken Webster. Jeffers hit one from about 70 feet out. At the first quarter buzzer the score was Methodist 15, Nazarene 7.

With a hot streak in the second heat, the Nazarenes shot into a 22-17 lead, outscoring the Methodist, 15-2 during its burst.

Grabbing an early lead, St. George was never to be headed in its conquest of the Teen club.

However, Ron Gillina, Catholic star, was forced to put on a ten point show in the fourth period. On the shooting of Bruce Ralson and Bob Goetsch, the Teens threatened to break it open, but Gallina and the Catholics fended them off.

Gallina was high scorer in one contest with 17, Ralson and Goetsch with 15 and 13 respectively, sparked the Teens.

Webster was top individual scorer in the Methodist-Nazarene game with 18. Gary Bressi and the Rev. Dallas Mucci each netted 15 for the winners.

Scoring Race

Tom Jeffers of the Methodist is the leading point-getter in the Tinley Park church basketball league with a total of 74 and a 14.4 per game average. Jeffers is one of the main reasons the Methodists are on top.

Ron Gallina of the Catholics gained ground on Jeffers with his 17 against the Teens. Gallina now boasts a total of 66 and a per game average of 13.2. Methodist, Ken Webster, holds third place with 59.

Lincoln-Way Loses To Braves In Twin Bill But Beats Crete-Monee

By FRED KIESLAR
Lincoln-Way lost a pair of conference tilts at Bremen last Friday and then came back on their home court Saturday night and dusted off Crete-Monee in non-league games.

In the games at Bremen the Braves won the varsity contest in easy fashion, 68 to 46, and the frosh-soph match, 55 to 30.

In the games against Crete-Monee the Lincoln-Way varsity won 53 to 42 and frosh-sophs, 44 to 41.

In the Southwest Suburban conference games at Bremen the host team—in the varsity contest—ran up a 17-point lead in the first quarter, 22 to 5, and was never headed. The Braves registered 13 points in the second frame and Lincoln-Way 7 so that at half time the score stood at 35 to 12, Bremen.

Lincoln-Way Knights went to work in the third quarter and on baskets by Hank Jessen, Ken Weber, Ron Sorrell, Dave Zechlin and Ron Fredin piled up 24 points to 20 for Bremen, compiled by DuBois, O'Neill, Hartwig, Tindall and Meentz. In the final period Bremen sunk six baskets and a free throw for 13 points to four baskets and two charity heaves for 10 points for Lincoln-Way.

Hartwig Top Man

Dale Hartwig was top scorer in the game, tallying 21 points for the Braves. The Knights' top scorer were Jessen and Sorrell with 10 points each.

In the frosh-soph encounter, Lincoln-Way counted 16 points on field goals and 14 from the free throw line. The Bremen outfit committed 19 fouls giving the Lincolns 25 shots from the charity circle. Lincoln-Way committed 12 fouls, giving Bremen 16 shots, of which nine were successful. Bremen scored 46 of its 55 points on baskets. Larry Iwema with 10 points and Tom Peterson with eight were high scorers for Lincoln-Way. Randle was high point man for Bremen with 16.

The defeats Friday night did not dishearten the Knights and both teams bounced back on Saturday to take a twin bill from Crete-Monee. The varsity Knights got off to a lead of 14 to 4 in the first quarter and added 11 points in the second to the visitor's five so that at intermission Lincoln-Way was on top of a 25 to 9 score.

Eight fouls by the Knights in the third quarter gave the Warriors 11 chances at the free throw line; they made seven of them. This, plus four baskets gave the Cretes 15 points but the Knights made 16 to grab a 17-point lead.

The Warriors fought back in the final period; scoring 18 points to 12 for Lincoln-Way so in the end it was Knights, 53, Warriors, 42. Fredin was top man for Lincoln-Way with 14 points, Jack Rienoehl scored 12 for Crete.

Meet Rich Tomorrow

In the frosh-soph contest the Lincolns outscored Crete by three points in the first quarter, two in the second frame and two in the fourth. Crete topped the hosts by four points in the third quarter, cutting the Lincolns to a one-point lead. In the last quarter the Lincolns scored seven points to Cretes five to win 44-41. Larry Iwema and Tom Peterson were top scorers for L-W with 13 and 11 points respectively. Stamberg of Crete, had 14 points and Ficke 12.

The Lincoln-Way freshmen team opened its season Tuesday, Dec. 3 with a loss to Peotone, 45-19. Thomas Hake, freshman coach, has 20 boys on his squad, two whom, Skip Kruzich, formerly of Mokena, and Jack Jessen play on the frosh-soph team.

The Knights will meet Rich tomorrow night at Lincoln-Way and endeavor to repeat its win of last year. Rich had been unbeaten in 41 consecutive conference starts. In fact Rich had not been beaten since the conference was organized until last Feb. 22 when the Knights turned the trick by a score of 64 to 58. Last week Sandburg downed Rich and Lincoln-Way hopes to do it again.

The frosh-soph game will begin at 6:45 and the varsity tilt about 8:00. Next Tuesday the Knights will play Lemont, there.

CONSTRUCTIVE COMPETITION

It is marvelous (a cause to marvel), the way the handful of families who have lived on this plain for just one year have managed to work together in group efforts to produce so much good for all of us.

In just the two months that I have written this column, numbers of memberships and workers have almost doubled. The growth has been astonishingly swift. You may not realize this unless you have been in a position to witness many groups in many efforts, as I have. Even the dedicated leaders themselves have probably been so immersed in their own overwhelming challenges, that the steady growth around them was put aside for consideration later.

Do you know that in this two months alone—there have been over 5 solid blocks of homes occupied? There have probably been over 50 new families moved out here? The new little Cub Scout packs have grown from an original 16 boys to a present 31 boys? The first Protestant church on our own land has had its Sunday school enrollment rise from around 30 children to over 60? The church teachers have grown from an optimistic nucleus into a staff of eight teachers, one secretary and one superintendent?

Another sign of tremendous rate of progress is the first stirring of forming a new PTA out here. As you may know, the National PTA prints an informative magazine monthly from September to June. Just a quick glance through this publication proves to any thinking person that such projects and aids are badly in need in our embryo school district. This magazine shows me that national PTA membership now stands at nearly 11 million! Let's hope we shall soon swell this number by at least 200. (There are nearly 300 families out here in our village alone—not including our neighbors of the surrounding farmlands.)

It has been a deep belief of this country from the beginning that improvement can best come through constructive competition. So it does. One man selling cream and cheese may begin to get careless about the quality of his merchandise—but let another cream and cheese man open up for business, and they both offer their very best.

And who benefits from such competition?

Everybody.

The man who comes to the territory the first one has opened up, benefits from the first man's preparations. The first man, who had begun to rest on his laurels, is once more proud to notice he is again offering his best to his public. And the public—it is obvious they now have two superior men helping them rather than one.

So I say: Hurrah! For those who have wrought such social changes in our first pioneer year out here. And at the next breath, I say Hurrah! For those who are forming new groups to bring larger and better works to us.

For surely our growth can never be measured by last years same requirements? And most surely, we wish to work for the best of all possible worlds here in this little dot on the map of the United States. We, too, can prove the value of Constructive Competition.

YOU KNOW WHAT!

I SECOND THE MOTION

The Mothers club of Coopers Grove school elected its new officers for the year 1958. New president is Mrs. Lillian Thomas vice president, Mrs. Edna Thacker; secretary, Mrs. Irene Hejmalek; treasurer, Mrs. Marie Younker; publicity chairman, Mrs. Betty Bergmann; room mother chairman, Mrs. Pat Hastings.

The club's treasury holds $286 at this time, of which $100 will be held for next year's beginning. The balance will be offered to the staff of the school to purchase whatever items they feel most necessary for each separate classroom.

Valuable Gifts

On display at the Mothers club meeting for December were the two major purchases they had elected to present to the school with their funds raised during the year. One was a lovely floor display bookcase set of World Book encyclopedias. The second was a most impressive Watland slide projector, of the School Master 500 series. Slides can be donated by local residents at first and later purchased with school funds contributed by local parents groups.

Continuous Projects

During this year of 1957 the Mothers club has given money to the school for: 1. first aid equipment; 2. ice cream for room parties; 3. rest cot for first aid room; 4. small surprise gifts for each room's Christmas parties (for every boy and girl enrolled.)

The women of the Mothers club were happy and excited to complete planning for their social Christmas dinner at a local restaurant on Wednesday, Dec. 11. (All Dutch treat.)

WHERE ARE YOU?

Somewhere in our village are 3 or 4 men who would enjoy being heroes of young boys, ages 8 to 11. Somewhere are 4 men who love camping, hiking, handcrafts, and all masculine projects.

The Cub Scouts need a few more organizational committee workers, according to Carl Timmermann, who is the contact between our own Scout packs and local and national authorities. Such men need only pledge two nights a month—one for planning and one for meeting with the boys. A few written records must be kept straight as the packs grow, too. But these duties are actually all that's required of a Scout committee worker.

Are you a man experienced in Scouting? Or do you know a man who wants to learn and help with the brand new Scouting plans out here? Are you a man who enjoys planning creative group work? If so, call Carl Timmermann at SY 8-7863. There are 31 boys waiting for exciting projects and heroes to teach them.

A NIGHT WITH SANTA CLAUS

This sounds like great fun for everyone! Plans are now being made by many men and women who work with the Citizens committee to present a happy evening for all children, ages 1 to 91. Christmas music will be provided by phonograph. Santa will take every child on his knee and listen to his timid list of wishes—then every boy and girl will receive a bright bag of cookies, candies, and small surprise toy.

A week-night was chosen for this major event to give the little children something exciting to look forward to between week ends. (I know that in my own family, the poor children have a long, hard week stretching from Saturday to Saturday, when Papa comes home. And then every week end proves a hectic rush of shopping, errands trips, and adult necessities that dampen the children's fun.)

Since Christmas shopping is coming up for that final week-end, the Thursday night date with Santa should prove most convenient for our families. Look for picture holders that will be left in mailboxes soon for the young children to keep as reminders of dear Santa's happy visit.

CHURCH EXECUTIVES

Country Club Hills Christian church is proud to announce its present executive committee: the chairman is the Rev. J. J. Von Boskirk; secretary, Carl Timmermann; treasurer, Bill Ramseyer; worship planning, Bill Picek; church historian, Mrs. Elaine Timmermann; children's education, Mrs. Alice McKenzie; building and maintenance, Arthur Ebert; flower selection, Mrs. Eleanor Otto. Artwork for the church is done in the latter's home by Mrs. Rusty Wilson. Land Procurement is planned by Clarence Beam.

donors from our area. Her brother, age 36, had surgery and special care three months ago in Wesley Memorial hospital. He is now recovering in the Oak Forest hospital.

Sixty three pints of blood must be returned by Mrs. Many penny's family before six months from the date of the transfusions. Three months are left for the family.

Any blood type may be given and donors may go to the Chicago Heights hospital, St. James, Chicago road and 14th st. Hospital phone is SK 4-3200 and donations are made by appointment only. When calling to donate blood, the name of the patient must be given, Benjamin Fleck, and the name of the hospital, Wesley Memorial.

To day, over 20 people have donated a pint each. Any person having had a cold or a flu shot within the past month is ineligible to give. The hospitals ask a return to their blood bank of three pints for every one given in transfusions. If these are not returned within six months, the family is charged $25 per pint not replaced.

Wouldn't you like to help them? It is a pin prick and a few moments of your time. But who knows what life it may save later?

Mrs. Manvenney's phone number is SY 8-9426.

PTA MEETING

Sunday night at 8:30, a group of 16 people met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, 17767 Baker st., to hear information about PTA planning from Don Swanson. Mr. Swanson had previously been assigned by the Citizens committee to meet representatives of the PTA and collect literature and instructions for forming a Coopers Grove group. The people at the meeting Sunday night had come together by word-of-mouth invitations only, imply a sharing of determination to start work immediately with a PTA.

Men and women were about evenly divided. Husbands and wives attending the meeting together where family ties permitted. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Don Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Chavanne, Mrs. Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, Mrs. Hazel Marquard sen, and Mr. and Mrs. Schwenk.

Those who sent direct word that they wish to work for the PTA but could not make sudden plans to attend Sunday's meeting were: Mrs. Rusty Wilson, Bill Ramseyer, Mrs. Bessie Hein and Mrs. Ann Jefferies.

A working committee will meet at Mrs. Van Horn's home Thursday night, Dec. 12.

Anyone wishing to have their name added to the active list of PTA workers may call Sy 8-5669.

Boom in Skilled Jobs Due in 60's

A massive demand for workers in nearly every type of occupation and industry will come with the U. S. economic boom in the 60's and 70's, predict the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine. In a copyrighted article in the December issue of the magazine, the editors state that 10,000,000 jobs will be added to the work force by 1965, another 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 by 1975.

The well-educated and the highly skilled will have greater opportunities than ever before. Semiprofessional and semiskilled workers will be in heavy demand, too. And openings will abound at all levels for women, for part-timers and for older employees.

In manufacturing, employment will be up 28% in 1956, 56% in 1975. The fastest growth will be in the manufacture of transport equipment, machinery, metal products, paper products and chemicals. The heaviest employment needs will be for semiskilled machine operators, including women, and for salespeople, managers and technicians.

New industries developing FRANKFORT FIREMEN extinguish blaze at Standard Industrial Compound plant, on Center st., Frankfort, last Friday afternoon. The tanks shown here contain a tallowy type of stuff that is finally processed into a powdery substance used for lubrication in rolling mills. Sparks set off a fire in the felt covering on the center tank and the wind carried it to the north tank. Firemen knocked the blaze quickly and when the picture was taken were wetting down the coverings to eliminate any heat.

during the 60's and 70's will mean new jobs. One large company expect that 80% of its output ten years from now will be items not developed today.

In the atomic field, jobs will multiply with a strong demand for chemists, nuclear physicists, mathematicians, biochemists and nuclear and other kinds of engineers. Many semiprofessional technicians will be needed for inspection and decontamination teams.

Electronics manufacturing will require thousands of new engineers, draftsmen, office workers as well as skilled and semiskilled plant workers.

Plastic products manufacturing, a relatively new industry, will hire faster than most other industries. Most openings will be for inexperienced workers who will be trained on the job.

There will be a big rise in construction where most jobs will be filled by craftsmen and other skilled workers.

Jobs in the wholesale and retail trades will swell 45% by 1975 with work at that time for more than 19-million people in sales, clerical and managerial positions.

"This flu epidemic has been pretty rough, and after talking to some of the folks who have lived in other parts of the world (and there are lots of them hereabouts) we are glad to be in the good old USA—We have advantages over them in many ways, including better medical care."—Mountain Home, Idaho News.

That's A Woman Driver for You

"Don't throw it out" has become the byword of vacationing motorists who take pride in keeping the nation's parks and countryside beautiful. Women drivers are setting an example by encouraging the family to use a new travelling waste basket, the car litter bag.

The re-usable litter bag measures 12 inches wide and 12 inches deep. Made of red or green vinyl plastic, it is leakproof and washable. Twin sets of metal rings provide for quick installation under any car instrument panel, robe rail, front door or window cranks. The metal rings snap open just as quickly for disposal at station breaks or wayside litter barrels. A thin piece of wood sealed in the top of the back keeps the bag in position during motion.

The homemaker taking the children picnicking, for a ride in the country or on a beach party finds the car litter bag serves as a firm reminder of the rules of the road.

grab and caught the marble in time to ease it to the floor. The light touched the slanted stone, giving the boy a glimpse of what appeared to be written words.

Record thus Preserved
Examining the underside of the slab young Semmler was able to make out these words and this was what was written: "This church was dedicated on the 15th day of December, 1867. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. Kidd, of Evanston, Illinois. The pastor of the church was Rev. Lucius Stewart."

Who wrote this brief history of the beginning of the church underside of a piece of marble and why the author chose the serving as a table top is not known but the inscription is recognized as the only reliable evidence concerning the origin of the Mokena Methodist church. The table has been preserved.

Aid Handicapped Children Aim Of Parental Group

Parents of handicapped children are invited to attend a meeting in the Tinley Park grade school, 173rd and 67th court, at 8:30 p. m., Monday, Dec. 16.

A Parents' group is being formed in the area to help solve educational problems of handicapped children. The group is interested in determining how many handicapped children live in the area and the extent of their handicaps.

An educational program for parents is one of their objectives. Arousing public interest in the welfare of these children is another. Support of appropriate state legislation and community interest is their chief aim.

R. J. Graham, assistant superintendent, office of public instruction, in Springfield, in championing facilities for the handicapped child, said: I am convinced that the Master, who said: "Suffer little children to come unto Me" did not exclude the underprivileged". It is a good standard for school districts to maintain, he added.

Plan Amateur Show to Buy Colors for Lincoln-Way Band

An amateur show will be held in January in order to purchase colors for the Lincoln-Way High school band.

It is being sponsored by the Amvets Five Point Post, of Mokena in conjunction with the combined organizations of the Lincoln-Way High school district.

Receipts from the show will be used to purchase colors for the Lincoln-Way High school band.

The co-sponsoring organizations are the American Legion of Manhattan; American Legion, Frankfort; VFW, of New Lenox; and the VFW, of Mokena.

Anyone wishing to participate in the amateur show should contact Anthony Dina, director, of Mokena, or veterans posts in their towns.

Farm Bureau Farm Management Group Will Meet Dec. 17

The Will county winter meeting of Farm Bureau Farm Management Cooperators will be held Dec. 17 at 7:30 pm. in the Farm Bureau building at 59 West Clinton st., Joliet.

The program will be on 1957 Income Tax and Social Security closing the 1957 record, costs of producing crops and livestock and nominating a director.

John McNair of Plainfield is the farm management fieldman for Will county.

Elephants, alligators, turtles and poll parrots have an average life span of 100 years or more.

Report on Work Done This Year At Sanatorium

The annual report of the Will county Sunny Hill sanatorium was made public today by the sanatorium board of trustees. A total of 134 persons were treated at the sanatorium during the fiscal year which ran from Sept. 1, 1956 through Aug. 31, 1957. There were eight deaths in the institution but only one resulted from tuberculosis.

For the first time in the history of the institution, the proportion of far advanced cases admitted showed a percentage decrease. Only 20 per cent of all patients admitted to the sanatorium were in the far advanced stages. A year ago the percentage was 30 and two years ago the percentage was 36.

Dentist Assigned

A new service was given to the sanatorium patients during the year.

Dr. Lawrence Furlong, a staff member of the Will county health department, became the dentist for the sanatorium and for the nursing home. Dr. Furlong visits the institution weekly to administer to the needs of the patients. All patients however, may have a dentist their own choosing.

The annual report states that building plans for the sanatorium have been delayed due to the necessity of re-voting the sanatorium laws. This election was held in conjunction with the judicial election last June. The voters approved the law once more by casting a favorable majority. Further development of plans await a study of recent laws passed by the state legislature. This study is being made by the firm of Chapman and Cutler which must approve any financial transactions.

Michale A. Falleta is superintendent of the sanatorium.

L-W Homemakers to Have Open House at School Sunday

Everyone is invited to attend an open house sponsored by the homemaking department and the Future Homemakers of America to be held Sunday, December 15, in the homemaking department at Lincoln-Way high school. The open house will follow immediately the Christmas vespers which are being presented at 4 p.m. by the Lincoln-Way vocal music department under the direction of Tom Olson.

The sponsors, Mrs. Mildred Foster and Mrs. Ann Johansen, have announced that the L-W homemaking advisory council comprised of Mrs. Al Hochberger, Mrs. Leroy Hansen, Mrs. Don Wennlund, Mrs. Bill Heidrich, Mrs. John Jilek, and Mrs. Walter Spiewak, will serve.

Refreshments are being made by members of the homemaking classes—the candy will be the product of the freshman homemaking students and the fruit cakes were made by Homemaking III students.

Stadium was originally a Greek measure of length, approximately 600 feet.

School Program

Second grade students of Orland Park public school had a program one day last week and the following is an article written by Deborah Davidson:

"Our program was about the foods used when the pilgrims came and the foods of today. We learned many things. We learned the pumpkin would dry faster if it were cut smaller.

"Our program was on Wednesday, Nov. 27. We had many foods; there are many more foods of today than there was when the pilgrims came. The people did not go to the store to get food because they did not have stores, they had to go out and shoot animals and they had to pick berries; they dried apples in the sun and dried pumpkin over their fireplaces. They had to cut the apples and pumpkins in little pieces so they would dry faster than cutting them in big pieces. The pilgrims dried meat on racks outside, they hung the meat high so animals could not get them. The children had to keep the crows and squirrels away."

Joan Marie Stuart, daughter of Mrs. C. L. Aulwurm, of Orland Park, has been pledged to Alpha Omicron Pi, a national sorority at Florida Southern college.

Winter Time, Critical Time For Drivers

Motorists not only should take their winter clothing out of mothballs but their winter driving habits, too, according to Matthew C. Sielski, director of the Chicago Motor club's safety traffic engineering department.

Winter, with its slippery roads and visibility problems, is a critical time of year for drivers, Sielski said.

Most skidding accidents occur in the pre-winter and early winter months because motorists are caught by surprise. It is easy for drivers to forget how slippery roads can get, Sielski said.

Drivers Must Adjust Selves
Tests have proved that the braking distance on glare ice is twice as long at 30 degrees as at a zero temperature. The greatest skidding dangers exist when it is just cold enough for water to freeze.

"A winter changeover doesn't mean just adding anti-freeze to changeover also should take your radiator," Sielski said. "The place in the attitude of the driver himself."

Wet roads require motorists to drive cautiously and at a reduced speed. Slushy roads, usually accompanied by fog and early darkness, present many visibility problems, he said. Falling sleet or snow and the splashes of slush from passing cars require motorists to have properly working windshield wipers.

Visibility a Must

In this kind of weather, headlights, not parking lights, should be turned on to warn both pedestrians and oncoming traffic. Windshield washers installed on the car can aid visibility, Sielski said.

Cold and wet weather also affect the inside windows of a car. For safety's sake, inside windows should be wiped or scraped clean, and de frosting equipment should function correctly. If fogging of inside windows persists, one of the side windows should be opened slightly, Sielski said.

Old Trees May Shelter Dutch Elm Carriers

Dead or dying elm trees—dangerous or not or infected or not—pose a serious threat to your own and neighboring landscapes. Such trees are likely to be favorite overwintering bases of dread elm bark beetles, carriers of Dutch elm disease.

They should be removed at once . . . and completely destroyed by burning. Too many home owners, reconciled to eventual loss of once-beautiful tree friends, postpone the operation. Overlooked past spring, beetles will emerge fat, healthy and vigorous to spread arboreal disaster.

And their range of destruction is not as limited as many weekend gardeners may think, says J. W. Christian, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Ordinarily, the elm bark beetle is confined to flights one-quarter or less. Given a good tailwind, however, it has been known to fly several miles.

Cleaning up the home ground and wood lots of dead, dying or diseased wood is called sanitation. This includes wood debris, which should be destroyed by burning like the rest. Late fall and Winter is an ideal time for tree removals. Professional tree men are more available for such work than they are in the height of the busy growing season. Removals are more easily handled when trees are not burdened with foliage.

If one of your elms looked decidedly dejected this past summer, call in the tree man to diagnose its condition. If it's afflicted with Dutch elm, chances are he'll urge its removal at once.

Bottles And Throttles Can Take All The Joy Out Of Christmas

Holiday drivers were warned today that glasses have a dangerous effect on vision. That is, if they've been emptied several times.

The warning comes from the National Safety Council, which says the throttle and the bottle are big factors in the Christmas holiday traffic toll.

Social drinkers, because of the stepped up festivity of the season, present a greater traffic hazard than at any other time of the year, the Council said.

In a special study of 501 fatal Christmas holiday accidents, which killed 609 persons, the Council found drinking drivers were involved in 55 per cent of the accidents. At other times of the year they are involved in about 30 per cent.

Mostly Men

Men were driving in 94 per cent of the accidents studied. In 90 per cent of the accidents only one person was killed.

Almost four out of five victims were men, and these were mostly drivers.

The most common type of accident was collision between two or more cars. Next in order were non-collision, pedestrian, and fixed object collisions.

The most common driver action contributing to fatal accidents was driving on the wrong side of the road or in the center of the road. Failure to observe a signal or stop sign was second. Mechanical failure or tire blowouts were mentioned in only four of the accidents studied.

Use Care and Caution

In launching its annual Christmas safety campaign, the Council said the nation may have a safer and happier Christmas this year if drivers will exert a little extra care and caution. The traffic trend is encouraging. During the first nine months of the year traffic deaths dropped 3 per cent from the same period for the previous year—a saving of 800 lives.

"If this rate of improvement can be maintained the rest of the year", the Council said, "more than 1,000 lives can be saved on the highway in 1957. But the Christmas holidays will be the decisive factor."

Help Prevent Christmas Fires - Watch That Tree

Don't get burned up at Christmas! You can, easily, if you are careless with the yule log and the Christmas tree.

"The Christmas tree is one of the most combustible objects known," the National Safety Council said.

"Christmas trees, filled with natural pitch and resin, can burn so quickly it is almost impossible to extinguish the flames by ordinary methods.

"Trees should be taken down when the needles start to fall, even if the holidays are not over. And they should be disposed of out-of-doors, in fire-safe areas.

"Never attempt to burn an old Christmas tree in a fireplace furnace or stove...they burn with almost explosive violence and the fire is most likely to get out of control."

6 Single Precautions

To help prevent Christmas tree fires, the Council offers six simple precautions:

1. Buy a fresh tree and keep it in a cold place until you are ready to put it up. Before setting up the tree, saw off, diagonally at least an inch of the trunk. Place the base in a water-containing holder and keep the holder filled with water while the tree is up.

2. Locate the tree well away from fireplaces, radiators, television sets, powerful electric lights and other sources of heat.

3. Use only electric lights, and be sure they bear the Underwriter's Laboratories label. Check wires for defects and loose sockets before putting on tree.

4. Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload house wiring and blow a fuse. Reduce the load if this happens, or connect part to another circuit outlet. Never increase the size of the fuse, or substitute a penny for a blown fuse.

5. Be sure ends of metallic icicles or other decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit and flash fire.

6. Do not operate electric trains or other electrical toys, which may spark, under the tree

Idea Is Worth $3,000 To Gas Co. Employee

Thomas Snedden, Glen Ellyn, has been awarded $3,000 by Northern Illinois Gas Company for an idea submitted thru the utility's employee suggestion system. It is one of the largest single awards ever made by a utility for an employee's suggestion.

The record award was presented to Snedden at the gas company's annual management meeting Dec. 4 at which time he also received the $150 award for the most outstanding suggestion submitted under the company's suggestion plan during the year. The $100 second prize for the next best suggestion of the year went to Alex Strango, Aurora, and the $75 third prize went to Helmuth Becker, Maywood.

Benefits Customer

Snedden, a 25-year veteran of the utility, is an engineer in the corrosion section of the gas company's engineering department in Bellwood. Encouraged by his immediate supervisor, L. E. Nichols, the utility's corrosion engineer, Snedden designed and fabricated a device which permits more rapid and economical checking of the insulation of gas services without inconveniencing customers.

Strange, an employee in the utility's operating department in Aurora, designed and fabricated a valve greaser used for greasing buried valves. The tool has made the greasing operation a faster and easier one and also has been effective in greasing valves in crooked or misaligned valve boxes. He had originally received $100 for this suggestion.

Becker, a member of the gas company's operating department in Bellwood, observing that the type of valve markers then in use were deteriorating very rapidly, designed a new one that was durable, inexpensive and could be installed easily on the job. The valve markers are used to identify the gas company's valves in the valve boxes installed over the mains, generally in the parkways. He previously had been awarded $50 for this idea.

Klondike Derby Dates Set For Pokagon Council

The 1958 Klondike derbies, the winter adventure for the approximately 4,000 Scouts of Boy Scouts of America Pokagon Trails council, have been announced by Edward A. Lukowski, Jr. of Hammond, chairman of the council camping and activities committee.

Peace Pipe district Klondike derby will be Saturday, Jan. 11, at 11 a.m. at Camp Sullivan, 147th st. and Oak Park ave., in the Cook County Forest Preserve west of Midlothian. Elmer Gies of Calumet City is Peace Pipe district camping and activities chairman.

Potawatomi district Explorer derby will be Friday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at Camp Sullivan. Potawatomi Boy Scout derby will be Saturday, January 18, at 9:30 a.m. at Camp Sullivan. Marvin Rogers of Flossmoor is Potawatomi camping and activities chairman.

Ashkum district Klondike derby will be Sunday, Jan. 26, at 12 o'clock noon at Sauk Trail Woods (South,) Ashland ave.

and 26th st., in the Cook County Forest Preserve near Chicago Heights. Gus Persson of Lansing is Ashkum camping and activities chairman.

"The Klondike derby is an outdoor activity which makes use of scouting skills and patrol teamwork," Mr. Lukowski explained. "Each patrol makes an Alaskan sled to carry the gear members will use at stations along the compass trail they follow. Each station will be a real challenge to Scouts in their use of rope, axe, first aid, and camping knowledge.

"Now is the time for each patrol to begin work on a sled if it is to be ready in time for the district's Klondike derby."

Pokagon Trails council, with offices in Hammond, serves 38 communities in the western half of Lake county, Indiana; south suburban Cook county, and a portion of Will county.

Have Merry Christmas But Keep It Safe

There's nothing quite like Christmas!

No other season or holiday of the year has the same air of excitement and gaiety. But under the pressure of events, the Christmas season sometimes brings on nervous tension, undue hurry and worry, impatience, irritation and a lapse of good, sound judgment. And that's when the little accident demon gets busy, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

The Christmas tree is the first consideration. Whether your tree is ceiling high or small enough to stand on a table, the base should be steady and properly weighted for balance. If it's a real tree, fix the trunk in a container of moist sand as protection against fire.

Before stringing the branches with lights, test the cord for possible shorts, and don't overload the circuits. Use a sturdy step-ladder to hang the star on top and whatever else is to be hung on the upper branches. Make a special effort to see that no ornament of metal strand comes into contact with a light bulb or socket. Turn the lights off when you leave the house or apartment.

Do not keep a tree inside longer than 10 days or two weeks because, even with the best care, it will dry out and become a serious fire hazard.

House decorations are many and varied. If you are buying new ones, try to buy either flame-proofed or non-flammable ones. When using old decorations, make absolutely sure that they are safely away from fireplaces, candle flames and lighting fixtures.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

With winter almost here, motorists must be prepared for the worst of driving conditions. They must be prepared to meet such situations and not to blame the weatherman for accidents.

Windshields should be kept clear of snow, ice and frost. Danger must be seen to be avoided, so make sure your headlights, windshield wiper blades and defrosters are in top condition.

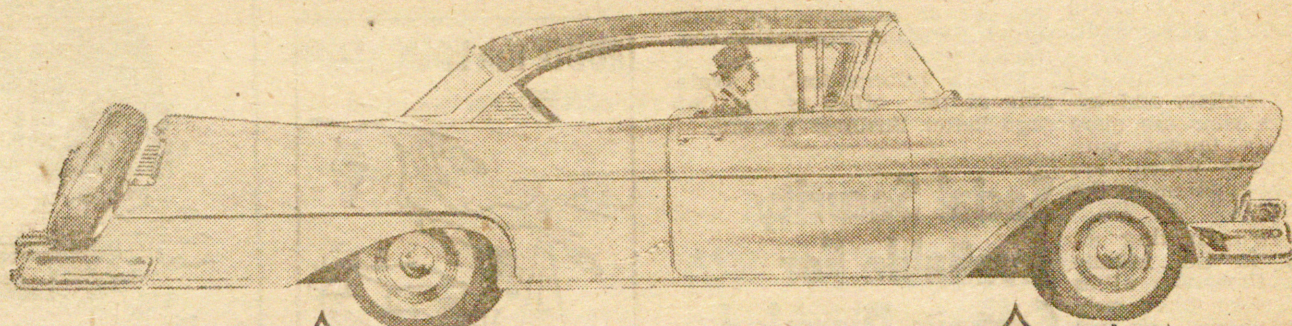

Try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic to get the feel of the road. In this fashion you'll be able to adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Tire chains should be used on ice and snow as they cut stopping distance about in half. Chains also give from four to seven times more starting and climbing traction ability.

Motorists should remember to pump their brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming on the brakes can lock the wheels and throw a motor vehicle into a dangerous skid. And remember, too, to stay well behind the vehicle you are following, giving yourself plenty of room to stop. Without tire chains, it takes from three to twelve times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The failure of our attempt to put a "sputnik" in the sky is certain to increase our rate of spending on military projects. It is sometimes not realized that since the start of World War II, we have been constantly at war.

War does not necessarily imply the use of bullets and explosives. Modern wars are more and more being fought with economic weapons which are not immediately apparent to the average person.

We have been fighting an economic war in the Middle East for some time. Our allies in Western Europe have only recently industrialized as we think of industrialization and if oil were shut off, their whole standard of living could drop with world repercussions. The Russians are fully aware of this situation.

The successful Russian "sputnik" has erased many of our billions spent in aid to Middle East peoples and those who live very close to the starvation level. Neutrals are not quite so neutral.

People who live very close to the starvation level are interested only in what they can see and understand on the basis of tomorrow's breakfast. It is difficult to interest anyone with an empty belly in the philosophy of freedom, etc. The Russians with so many millions in exactly this situation, are much more expert at handling such situations than we are. The Russian technician and scientist is a jewel to be husbanded closely, but the average citizen who does not have this scientific training, is like meat in a butcher shop—to be bought by the pound. It will be surprising if the Russians do not put another "sputnik" into the sky soon just to insure America's secondary position in the scientific world—in so far as Asia and the East is concerned.

The military people responsible for our satellite program are most fortunate that congress was not in session. Certainly the Democratic controlled congress would not overlook such a wonderful opportunity.

The one thing certain from this situation, is that budget plans and military economies will get little consideration and we can be assured of a considerably increased government spending in the military area. This will mean a further reduction in the purchasing power of the dollar and lesser value for fixed dollar obligations.

This can mean enhancement of well selected common stock values.

Easy Money Is Hard To Get, Bureau Warns

"Would you like to earn $2.00 an hour working at home" is the opening pitch of telephone solicitations to get your signature on a $300 contract to purchase a knitting machine, warns Aubra B. Johnston of the Chicago Better Business Bureau. Advertisements using this same "Make easy money at home" appeal have also been carried by these knitting machine sellers.

This approach is the latest in a long list of schemes designed to appeal to housewives who want to increase their income thru part time work at home.

This "work at home" approach is then followed up by a salesman who explains that his company has a market for knitted stoles, slipperettes, etc., and will buy all completed articles the homemaker can make. He says the company is not particularly interested in selling the machine, but that it has a big market for such knitted merchandise.

If you go for this "easy money at home" routine, you must sign a contract to buy a knitting machine. This contract calls for a specific number of payments, which, with carrying charge, totals more than $350.

According to complaints some of the salesmen say the machine really costs you nothing, because the homeworkers' earnings will exceed the monthly payment due on the machine. He also says the machine is simple to learn and easy to operate.

Complainants say the machine is not easy to operate and that it is impossible to earn the money advertised. Other complaints allege they thought the paper they signed was for the use of machine, but later found it was an irrevocable contract.

Further information is available at the office of the Chicago Better Business Bureau.

Social Security Available For Certain Disabled

By C. R. SCHAFER
Harvey Social Security Office

There are adult individuals who, because of a physical or mental disability which occurred at birth or before they became 18 years of age, have never had the opportunity to gain coverage under the social security program through employment or self-employment. Because these individuals may continue to be dependent on their parents, Congress, in the 1956 amendments to the social security law made provision for paying social security benefits to them during their adult years.

Disabled child's benefits became payable beginning with Jan. 1, 1957. Those disabled children age 18 or over who have not filed applications or have not had applications filed for them, should do so by Jan. 1, 1958 so that they may collect any back payments which may be due them.

To be entitled to these monthly child's disability payments under the social security program, a disabled son or daughter must meet all the following requirements:

1. Be age 18 or over, unmar-

"ALMOST, BUT NOT ENOUGH" is our verdict on how close competitive cars have come to matching the Swept-Wing 58. Take style. Other new cars are "almost" as low in inches, but still seem high and boxy in looks. Some of them are "almost" going to fins, but not enough to really make a difference. Then take performance. None of the other 1958 cars have anything to match the sway-free, dip-free, vibration-free ride of Torsion-Aire. (It's standard equipment.) Most of them still don't even have push-button driving! So after you've seen the "almost" cars, come in and drive a Swept-Wing 58. You'll see why we say: They're catching on, but they can't catch up.

The Gift of BETTER SLEEP for someone special on your list

Give an Automatic Electric Bedcover for Christmas

Almost anyone on your Christmas list would love to get an electric blanket or electric sheet. Matter of fact, more than 18 million people sleep better this way (and feel better when they wake up, too). There are lots of reasons why electric bedcovers make such perfect gifts:

- ★ They give warmth without weight. An electric bedcover provides the comfort of 3 ordinary blankets, yet often weighs less than one.
- ★ Chilly sheets are gone forever. Just set the control a little before bedtime and your bed is warm when you're ready for sleep.
- ★ Modern electric bedcovers can be laundered beautifully either at your regular laundry or in a modern automatic washer.
- ★ They offer single or dual controls to suit individual comfort preferences. Thermostatic controls adjust comfort level to changes in room temperature.
- ★ There are contoured models in both single and double bed sizes to make bedmaking quick and easy. Plenty of foot room, too, so covers won't be "kicked off".
- ★ All makes fully approved by Underwriters' Laboratories. It's your assurance of absolute safety—and many, many years of dependable service.

For...
SON or DAUGHTER
They'll sleep lots warmer regardless of outside temperatures, even with the windows wide open.

For...
GRANDMA and GRANDPA
Their circulation probably isn't what it used to be. An electric blanket will take the chill off the sheets.

Read Romans 12:10-18.
Rejoice in your hope, be patient in tribulation, be constant in prayer. (Romans 12:12, RSV.)
I was in the navy and, for the first time, helmsman for my ship in a practice maneuver. Through a fault of mine the gunnery officer did not get a "shot" at an imaginary submerged submarine. He reprimanded me in not too pleasant a tone and had me replaced. But after maneuvers, when we were returning to port, he said: "Take the helm; I still trust you." I now realize that the officer had not been angry at me, but at my mistake.

God does not condone sin, but He never belittles man who sins. The Bible proclaims to us the hope of salvation. A sinner can be regenerated by the power of the living Christ and right away turn from a life of sin and do so much good. The Bible teaches us to rejoice in the hope that one day we shall meet Him face to face; to have patience to defeat tribulation. By reading the Bible and persevering in prayer, we can be in continuous communion with the Father.

PRAYER

Eternal God of mercy, hallowed by Thy name. We thank Thee for Thy Word and the blessing of prayer. Through prayer we are able to receive strength for a new heart, and to ask forgiveness of our trespasses. Protect us in Thy love; through Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Blessed are they who find hope in God's Word and accept Christ as their Saviour.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
God's healing and saving power will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday, December 15.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Deuteronomy (33:27): "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

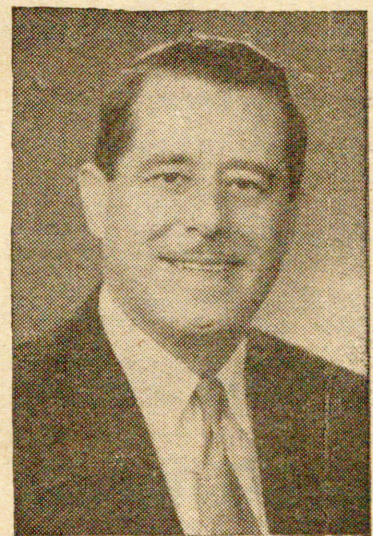

A number of experiences of the Apostle Paul are related in the Bible selections to be read which include Paul's healing (Acts 14) of the "man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (343:25): "Anciently those apostles who were Jesus' students, as well as Paul who was not one of his students, healed the sick and reformed the sinner by their religion. Hence the mistake which words, rather than works, to follow such examples!"

Indianan To Give Christian Science Lecture Dec. 19

The practical power of divine intelligence will be the topic of a free, public lecture on Christian Science to be delivered at Blue Island next Thursday, Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. by Clifford R. Nysewander of Indianapolis.

Mr. Nysewander will speak under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 127th and Maple ave. His subject will be Christian Science: Practical Christianity Revealed and Demonstrated.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Nysewander is currently on a nationwide speaking tour. During World War II, he served in the Far East as a chaplain in the United States Army. An authorized teacher of Christian Science, he has devoted his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing since 1937.

Many Childhood Speech Disorders Are Avoidable, Declares Expert

"My wite wed twuck i daw" may be delightful baby talk to parents but speech specialists say it signals retarded development is persisting in 6-8 year olds.

Chicago's board of education's speech specialist Dr. Margaret Hall Powers advised that this and similar speech defects were avoidable and curable if caught in time.

She discussed the "Management of Learning Difficulties and Speech Disturbances" at Winnetka's North Shore hospital. Her talk was third in a series devoted to "Emotional Problems of Childhood."

Dr. Powers said that about 5% of Chicago's School children have speech disorders sufficient severe to require professional speech therapy. At least another 5% have minor speech deviations correctable by classroom teachers or parents, she asserted.

In Chicagoland, 80% of all speech disorders receiving therapy are mainly avoidable types such as extended use of baby talk, lisping, lalling, stuttering and other voice disorders, she observed. The other 20% are generally derivative from organic defects such as cleft palate, cerebral palsy or nervous system disorders. She added:

—Speech disorders frequently hinder a child's academic progress and social adjustment at school, even tho he may have the same intelligence capacity as classmates.

—Speech retardation causes poor articulation leading to confusion and difficulty in learning to read and spell. This leads to frustration, embarrassment and humiliation ultimately developing feelings of insecurity and inferiority.

—Inability of the child to produce sounds of language is usually related to parental methods of child training and the nature of child-parent relationships. The emotional atmosphere surrounding a young child is an effective force in determining his speech development.

Dr. Powers explained that when the mother, in particular, is not a source of pleasure and gratification to the infant, the speech sounds she makes become negatively conditioned and the child tends to reject them. He is not motivated to produce speech sounds himself and his speech development is delayed and distorted. She added: "conditioning the child to face stresses may prevent speech disturbances."

Lispers are those usually finding difficulty with the sibilant sounds-z, s and sh, zh, ch and j - the fault usually lies with use of their tongue and emission of air.

Lallers are those experiencing difficulty with "l" and "r" sounds. Persons with delayed speech hesitate to use speech and often substitute symbols.

gestures or immature terms instead.

Stutterers Start Early

Stutterers usually begin before 6-8 years old and start with voluntary repetition of or no simple or single cause for prolongation of sounds or syllables or silent blocks. There is this. It is assumed that any physical or psychological factor which weakens children's resistance to stress predisposes him to easy speech breakdown.

Voice disorders such as pitch, loudness, quality and timbre may be functional, organic or have elements of both. Many voice problems in children are explained as imitation of parental patterns. Poor vocal habits account for many voice disorders and are often reflections of personal characteristics. An insecure child may have a weak voice. A tense, nervous child may reveal these traits in a nasal voice.

Dr. Powers pointed out that often hearing loss is responsible for speech defects and this possibility should also be checked.

She said children should be referred to a competent speech pathologist or clinic when they have not developed speech by the age of two or continue after six to use infantile speech forms or has difficulty in pronouncing all speech sounds of the language, or if he begins to show excessive speech hesitance or any organic abnormality of structure or function affecting speech.

"Speech rehabilitation is a multi-sided program encompassing physical care, education adjustment, mental and emotional hygiene, parent and teacher guidance as well as direct speech therapy. For successful outcome it requires close cooperation among all adults responsible for the child's care: the doctor, parents, teachers, psychologist or psychiatrist as well as the speech therapist.

Help can be obtained for speech defective children from various agencies as well as from private speech therapists, Dr. Powers indicated.

Sales of imported automobiles—most of them small economy types—have been rising steadily and swiftly in this country. This causes National Review to speculate: "Maybe instead of building the Edsel, the Ford Company should have revived the flivver."

According to Senator Byrd, the U.S. government's civilian payroll for fiscal 1957 has reached a record $11 billion-plus. The number of employees on the federal rolls is now 2,394,000, a gain of 30,000 over 1956.

Youngsters Can Make Yule Gifts With Little Aid

The haphazard attempts youngsters make for Christmas presents don't have to be "useful" things. They can be just decorative.

The main thing is for the children to have their own project while adults make other holiday preparations.

University of Illinois child development specialist Pat Robinson says young children can make book covers from plastic oilcloth for themselves or as gifts for others. Turn the edges in and stitch with a heavy darning needle and nylon yarn.

They can also make mats by putting their own cut-out pictures between two pieces of wax paper and pressing the wax papers together.

Cosmetic jars make colorful gifts. The ones with paper labels are best to work with. Peel the paper off and then paint the jar with enamel paint. It can be decorated with a painted design or with tiny artificial flowers glued to it. Small pine cones can add a holiday note.

Earrings or necklaces can be made from round cork fishing floats. Youngsters can decorate

The Lincoln Log

The weeks immediately preceding the Christmas vacation have been busy ones for members of the yearbook staff. Since the first section, made up of one-third of the books, is required to be finished at that time, it usually means many late hours kept by the persons responsible.

These 30 odd pages are devoted to the individual class pictures. Every student's picture has to be properly identified, placed in its correct class group, with the spelling of each name checked and re-checked. In the case of the seniors, other information including club membership, has to be assembled and compiled. All this takes a great deal of time and constant proof reading.

This fall, due to the outbreak of Asiatic flu in October when the individual pictures are usually taken, approximately 150 students missed having their pictures made. The photographer was back at the school on Dec. 3 in an effort to get as many of these absentees as possible. Unfortunately there will still be a few who can only be listed rather than pictured.

Sales have gone pretty well this year. Five hundred copies have been ordered, which is considered a pretty good percentage of the student enrollment. A letter press process is being used this year. It is hoped that this will eliminate some of the errors which slipped past the printer in past years.

Senior pictures are scheduled to be delivered in time to be included among the Christmas gifts to friends and relatives.

Speak Before Adult Groups

The ninth grade social studies classes have been hard at work on a safety unit for the past few weeks. The students have selected safety problems for study and have worked up short reports which they would like to present to any interested civic group within the Lincoln-Way high school district. The areas covered in this study include fire prevention; home, auto, bicycle, and air safety.

The students do not claim to be experts in any one of these fields but they do have some interesting views on the prevention of accidents. The students are also anxious to gain experience in talking before adult groups. Any civic group interested in having a student panel should contact Earl H. Dieken, curriculum director, Lincoln-Way high school.

Footlighters

Mr. Cook and members of the Footlighters' Dramatics club presented the play, "High Pressure Area", by Nora Stirling, to the Mokena Parent-Teachers' Association.

Helen Sheridan as Sally, Dona Anderson as Ruth, Pat Bradley and Ken Weber as Sally's parents, presented their play in the Mokena grade school gym on Tuesday, Nov. 26.

Library Gets Books

The additions to the library this year have topped all previous years' records. To date a total of 697 new titles have been placed on the library shelves. This tops by nearly 200 the additions during the entire year 1956-57. We are hoping that this is only a beginning and that as many more may be added during the second half of the year.

Reading material, especially that of a recreational nature, is still insufficient. The complaint that there is "nothing good to read" is heard at least once a day. As is usually the case, the more popular books are checked out immediately as soon as they are returned, so that they can never be found on the shelves simply because they never stay there long. An order including numerous sports stories, several of the ever-popular teenage romances, some science fiction, and other titles of the type always in demand, has been placed and will likely be filled some time in January.

The acquisitions include: General Work, 2; Philosophy, 9; Religions, 1; Social Sciences, 1; Languages, 8; Pure Science, 79; Applied Science, 45; Fine Arts, 30; Literature, 41; Travel, 23; History, 61; Biography, 62; Fiction, 278; Short Stories, 17.

The students who are helping as library assistants this year are Mary Ann Snider, Helen Sluis, Barbara Daugherty, Pat Bradley, Sharon Cappel, Karen Harder, Lurene Brown, Shirley Guth, Sheila Bennet, Carole

Don't Break Up Gangs, Lohman Advises Police

Tinley Park police chief, Harold C. Moore, and Officer Peter Seeley, are attending weekly sessions in a special training institute on juvenile delinquency. There are 150 officers taking the training course.

At a recent session Cook County Sheriff Joseph Lohman told officers:

"When the public calls on you to break up a gang, don't do it. That's not the answer. A gang is a symbol of a need, developed because of the community."

According to the sheriff, gangs develop because the community fails to supply leadership and meet the emotional needs of juveniles.

He advised officers to work with them to steer children into acceptable forms of behavior.

"The gangs form because of the lack of personal contact in our metropolitan style of living," Lohman said.

He stated one of the strongest controls in our society is the capacity to blush. A child adrift on a street won't blush because he isn't afraid of what others will say. He'll never see them again; why should he care?

As a result, Lohman said, juveniles often run wild. If adults gain control of the gangs and direct them into better patterns the children behave, he said.

Lohman's comments were made in a session called "Understanding the Juvenile."

FBI Head Warns Against Tactics Of Communists

Christ's warning of nearly 2,000 years ago—"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves"—is cited by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in an article appearing in the American Legion magazine for November. He applies it to communism. For communism, he writes, despite the efforts of leaders to put on smiling new faces, has not weakened and its philosophy has not changed, nor has the danger from it lessened. In words: "... the same old communist crowd is doing business at the same old communist stand in the same old subversive way!"

Actually, according to qualified spokesmen, the Communist Party, U.S.A., "is exulting that it has received a renewed lease on life." And it is intensifying its work in certain extremely significant directions. For one thing, it seeks to place members in heavy industry, steel mills and shipyards. For another it is seeking to appeal to young people and to influence them thru concealed members in church and civic organizations. Minority groups are also a prime target, and communists are experts at exploiting and warping legitimate and honest grievances. Then, the purposeful hand of communism is turned to protesting against the continued testing of nuclear weapons and other such strategic matters.

Motives Unchanged

As Mr. Hoover, out of his long and intimate experience with this danger, puts it: "Division and disunity are communist weapons. . . . It pits race against race, worker against manager, and group against group. It muddies the waters of peace while shouting, 'Co-existence!'"

The personalities of communism change. We now see, for instance, Khrushchev in place of Stalin. But, as we have also seen, those who oppose Khrushchev are judged just as surely as were those who opposed Stalin. It is Mr. Hoover's point that "The tactics of communism do not change! Hypocrisy, guile, deceit, and subversion are the hallmarks of communism today as they were yesterday. Here in America every walk of life has been infiltrated by the fanged salesmen of subversion cloaked in the lamb's wool of glowing promise."

Then he propounds a question: "What shall we do to insure that Americans will never eat the bitter fruit which is the dreadful lot of more than one-third of the peoples of the world?" His answer is this: "Learn what communism is and make ourselves aware of the tactics used by those who promote communism." Communism is purely materialistic in its expansion of the relationship of man to the universe and in its interpretation of history. It wishes to abolish all religions and the economic system we know as free enterprise. Its code of action is based not on morals but on utility. It reasons that the end always justifies the means. Its goal is worldwide revolution culminating in a worldwide communist society. And its end result, to quote Mr. Hoover once again: "... is the reduction of man from a spiritual creature to the level of high-grade animal whose sole reason for being is to copulate and die."

"The best way to keep your temper is in tact."

FARM NEWS

For Cook County
by
W. F. Whiteside

assistant farm adviser

It was my privilege to attend one of the sessions of National 4-H club Congress in Chicago last week. I talked with Bill Lorenz, Chicago Heights, who won a trip for his outstanding garden project. Bill and Audrey Mascetti, Steger, are two of the 30 Illinois delegates selected from the 64,000 4-H'ers in Illinois. In Chicago they joined with over 1,300 4-H'ers from the remaining 47 states and several foreign countries for a week of educational, recreational, and inspirational activities.

I am happy to report that Bill was named one of the six national winners in the garden project and will receive a $400 college scholarship.

Cook county 4-H'ers can be proud of the fact that in the last two years, three of their group have attended club congress. Ronald Kollman, Harvey, attended last year. He was also a National winner in the dairy project. He is now attending the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois.

The carcass class at the International Livestock show was more popular this year than any other. A pork chop from the champion swine carcass would look well in anybody's skillet. The loin eye (lean portion) was 4.5 square inches. The carcass was over 30 inches long and the fat coating over the back measured 1.3 inches. This type of carcass, if universally produced, would warm the hearts of homemakers on their weekly shopping trip. What a pleasure to pick up half a dozen pork chops of this type.

Keep dairy calves separated after feeding milk until the urge for nursing is over. Giving them a little grain to remove the taste of milk from their mouths will help to get their minds off nursing sooner.

Within a breed, the larger, more capacious dairy cows are usually the best producers and have the longest productive life. An extra pounds of growth on a dairy heifer at first normal-age calving may mean that she will produce 14 to 22 pounds more butterfat every year she is in the herd.

The best feed for heifers is good-quality legume hay fed in liberal amounts and supplemented with some grain. The grain should be made up mostly of farm-grown grains, to which you can add a high-protein feed. The better the quality of the hay, the less protein you will need in the mixture.

If your television picture shrinks when the furnace starts, it is an indication that your house wiring may not be adequate.

Multiple farrowings and pig hatcheries are making the central farrowing house more popular. Floor heating is being installed in many of the new houses. Recommendations on house design and installation of heating are given in a new circular, No. 780, "Hog Farrowing Houses and Equipment." For a copy write to the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Provide plenty of clean, ice-free water for livestock in the winter. Automatic waterers and water heaters will decrease labor and increase livestock gains.

Calves will do well in cold but draft-free pens with a southern exposure. Part of the loafing shed can be paneled off and used too. Be sure the calf gets colostrum, but don't overfeed it. To help control respiratory ills, keep calves of widely varying ages separated.

Farmers About to Retire Can File for Old Age Insurance

Some self-employed farmers who have reached retirement age, or who will reach it before the end of this year, may find it to their advantage to file a claim for old age insurance benefits before the end of Dec., 1957. It was announced by the social security administration.

These are farmers who because of floods, drought, or other adverse weather conditions, will have lower income in 1957.

It applies especially to some farm landlords who started to have their income from rentals count toward social security beginning with 1956, by materially participating in the production of crops or livestock on their land which they leased out to someone else.

Generally, it is necessary to wait until the close of a year to have net earnings for the year credited to a social security account and used in figuring a benefit amount. For 1957 only, if a claim is filed before the end of the year, one-half of the total earnings for the year can be used in figuring the benefit amount. Where 1957 earnings are lower than those for 1956, this could result in a higher benefit amount. If the farmer should wait until 1958 to file his claim he would lose the advantage of this type of calculation. In case it turns out that total earnings for the year 1957 were greater than anticipated, the farmer who files a claim during 1957 would still be given the benefit of these higher earnings.

Leptospirosis Takes Toll of Dogs - Can Infect People

Loose dogs are likely to get leptospirosis by coming into contact with the urine of infected dogs, rats and mice.

Dr. A. O. Griffiths of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine says that from two to 38 per cent of the dog population in various areas of the United States is believed to have leptospirosis.

All dogs are susceptible to leptospirosis. Age, breed and season of the year have no bearing on the disease. However, dogs that are free to roam are most likely to pick up the infection. The disease is found in five males to every one female.

Infected dogs are often dull, lose their appetites, shiver and have stiff hind legs. Later their eyes and mouth become discolored, and they vomit, have a bloody diarrhea and may die.

There is a vaccine that your local veterinarian may use at his discretion.

Be sure to wear rubber gloves when handling the dog, since the disease is transmissible to humans Dr. Griffiths warns.

AMMO-PHOS[®] FERTILIZERS

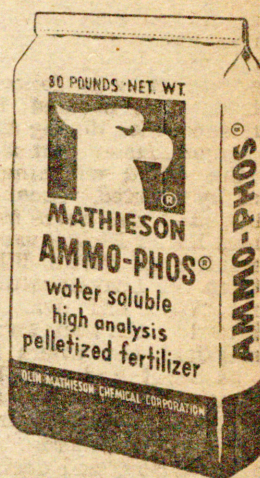

ARE HIGHLY WATER SOLUBLE

Experiments prove that crops take up more phosphate from water soluble AMMO-PHOS fertilizers than from ordinary mixed fertilizers.

Let us demonstrate this easy test.

AMMO-PHOS fertilizers are highly water soluble and we can prove it by simply placing a small amount of AMMO-PHOS in water and placing the same amount of an ordinary fertilizer in another equal amount of water. You'll be able to see how water soluble AMMO-PHOS GOES INTO SOLUTION while the ordinary fertilizer collects at the bottom of the glass. You'll know then why AMMO-PHOS fertilizers give the quickest response to crops.

Add Famous Sons Of Illinois — James Butler, "Wild Bill" Hickok

JOHN W. ALLEN
(Southern Illinois University)

Illinois has exported young men like William Edgar Borah and William Jennings Bryan who later came to wield far more than average influence in national affairs. It also has sent out those that attracted much attention in other fields, one being that of law enforcement. It almost seems that being born in Illinois once afforded a better than average start toward the career, oft times too brief, of law officer of the old West.

The advantage, if any, of being born in Illinois may be indicated by the fact that three among the half dozen or so most legendary of such figures began life in this state. Being Illinois born, however, did not make them bullet proof.

Note already has been made of one Illinoisian, "Bat" Masterson who, after becoming noted as an officer of the law, perhaps wisely left that hazardous work to become a writer and sports editor in New York where he "lived out his days" and died peacefully. A second noted officer and one of the great legendary figures of the Wild West was another Illinois boy, James Butler "Wild Bill" Hickok.

Had Gun and Traveled

Hickok was born in LaSalle county, on May 27, 1837. A memorial marker beside U. S. Highway 52 at the town of Troy Grove now indicates the site. Little is known about his boyhood beyond the fact that he was one of the best shots in that part of Illinois, and that he was industrious, peaceably inclined, and ready to work at an honest task.

When 18 years old, Hickok made his way to Leavenworth, Kansas. There he became a Free State man and joined the forces of General Jim Lane, serving as one of the general's bodyguards. At 19 he was chosen constable of Monticello township, serving faithfully and efficiently. He also preempted land, thus indicating an intention to become a farmer. As a member of the Free State forces and as constable, Hickok undoubtedly became acquainted with violence. No record has been found, however, that his reputation as a deadly gunman had begun.

In 1859 Hickok became a wagon and stage coach driver on the Santa Fe trail. Sometimes being placed in charge of way stations. In late 1860 at Raton Pass he was badly mauled by a bear that he finally killed with a bowie knife. Hickok barely survived, and when able to be moved was brought back to Kansas City and shortly was transferred to Rock Creek station on the Oregon Trail in Jefferson county, Nebraska.

David McCandles in charge of the Rock Creek station apparently formed an early dislike for Hickok, made him play and roughly wrestled the still weakened Hickok about. The resentment thus built up undoubtedly contributed to the clash between the two July 12, 1861 that resulted in the death of McCandles and two of his men. This affair apparently launched Hickok on his career as perhaps the West's most noted two-gun man and killer.

In Union Army

With the coming of the Civil War, Hickok took service in the Union forces and was made a wagonmaster out of Fort Leavenworth. It was following an episode that occurred in Independence, Mo., during this work as wagonmaster that a woman in the crowd watching Hickok pass by shouted, "Great for you, Wild Bill." The name stuck and James Butler Hickok was known thereafter as "Wild Bill".

From the Leavenworth assignment "Wild Bill" was transferred to the Union forces at Springfield, Mo. where he served as scout and spy. His performances and escapes at times appeared almost miraculous. They clearly indicate his cleverness, daring, and decisiveness.

After the war "Wild Bill", already with a great reputation as a gunman, became in turn a U. S. deputy marshal operating about Fort Riley, an Indian scout, a guide, a courier working under Generals Hancock, Sheridan, and Custer. He was also sheriff and town marshal at different places. In 1869 he became marshal in Hays City, Kan., then termed the toughest town on the border. He did his work there well, adding to his reputation as a gunman.

"Dead Man's Hand"

Leaving Hays City, he became marshal at Abilene, where he took the place of the recently slain marshal, Thomas J. Smith, known in legend as "Bear River Tom", perhaps the greatest of "bare knuckled" marshals the West knew. In Abilene "Wild Bill" established headquarters at the Alamo, a noted saloon and gambling house. "Officing" at the Alamo not only gave "Wild Bill" opportunity to gather information concerning incidents and persons but also to ply his regular trade as a professional gambler. As marshal he often patrolled the streets with his two revolvers and a sawed off shot gun. His stay in Abilene added to his already fabulous reputation.

In Abilene he presented the unusual spectacle of one man, by courage and skill, holding all the lawless elements of the border at bay. In the execution of his task he added several notches to his gun.

In 1872-73 "Wild Bill" toured the East with "Buffalo Bill" Cody. Not liking the life of a showman, Hickok returned to the West and became town marshal at Deadwood, Dakota Territory, where he was murdered by Jack McCall while playing poker on Aug. 2, 1876. The hand he held when shot, two aces and two eights, has ever since been known as the "dead man's hand."

In appearance "Wild Bill" was striking. He was six feet tall, well built, almost pantherish in his movements, always well dressed, altogether a fascinating man. There was nothing about him to suggest the bully. It is said that he never killed except in self-defense or in the line of duty. Despite all this, however, it is said that his revolver butts held seventy notches, none of which were for Indians.

(Editors Note: Mr. Hickok's dislike of life in a "Wild West" show was due, his friends claimed, to the fact that he was a shooting was a serious business, man of sincere conviction, and not a sport with Mr. Hickok, and the fusillade of blanks loosed in the air when Indians cowboys, stage guards and highway men clashed as a part of their act in the circus shocked his sense of rightness—putting the right thing in the right place. With Mr. Hickok a pistol was something not seen until heard. When he drew it was to shoot. With him—as far as shooting was concerned—the right thing to be put was bullet and the right place to put it was a vital or crippling spot. The firing of pistols just to make a noise and the use of blank cartridges offended his sensibilities. He realized of course, that as long as the audiences liked the shooting it had to be done, and that to use live ammunition would cause a turnover of talent that no agency could keep up with, not to speak of the fussiness and interference which might be expected of the legal authorities if wholesale killing marked each performance of the show.

However, Mr. Hickok drew the line at firing in the air. He looked upon that as downright silly and besides that it could get a man into dangerous habits. A man could get accustomed to holding off his target and that could be fatal. So Mr. Hickok, it is recalled in the memoirs of some of his colleagues in show business, threw down properly and made every word count. His fellow actors, suffering from wad cuts and powder burns, raised such a clamor that in disgust, quit and went back to the real wild west.

Mr. Hickok also is the man generally credited with the invention of the open back holster, now used by those carrying their armament under an armpit—shoulder holsters, they call them now. One side of the holster is open and the gun is held in place by spring steel clips.

Mr. Hickok is said to have hit upon the idea one day when mulling over means of lopping a fraction of a second off his drawing time. He figured that by splitting a holster down the front and hold it open by clips that were firm enough to hold a gun in place yet would release it easily. Guns were worn on the thigh and one that could be brought straight out and fired coming up would give one a faster shot than by pulling up straight to clear the holster and then leveling off. It worked too.)
